Last Saturday evening while a gentleman and his two sons, who lived near Deep Run, near Fredericksburg, were crossing it, they discovered a large number of herrings in the stream, and stopping, obtained sticks with which they killed over 100. The number of herring in the run this year has very greatly exceeded any previous year.